Bern, June 18.

THE Canton of Glaris having taken Offence at certain Rates or Customs which that of Zurich has of late resolved to exact for such Commodities as shall pass through the latter Canton for the Use and Account of the Inhabitants of the former, has forbid by way of Reprisal under the severest Penalties the Transport and Sale of their Wood to those of Zurich. But as the People of Glaris stand in much greater need of the Money of Zurich than this last of their Wood, it is probable this Prohibition will continue no longer than the first heat of the Resentment that produced it. The greatest part of the Cantons have not yet notified to that of Zurich their Resolutions concerning the Demand made by the Circle of Swabia to interdict all Commerce with France and Geneva. Those of Glaris, Basil, and Schaffhouse, are the only ones hitherto that have declared their Adhesion to the Resolution taken by Zurich upon this Occasion, in order to avoid if possible an Interruption of Trade with the Empire, which is of the utmost Importance to them. It is easy to foresee that the other Cantons will not come to any Determination upon this Matter before the approaching General Diet of Midsummer; and it is very likely the Circle of Swabia will suspend the Execution of its Threats till that Time. Advices from Barcelona say, that his Catholic Majesty having ordered the Arrears of the Colonels and Captains of the Regiments of Salis and Mayor, lately cashiered, to be paid in full, they were preparing to return home by the Way of Italy; and it is said that a new Regiment has been composed out of the Ruins of those two, which is commanded by one Niderist of the Canton of Switz, in which a good Number of Protestant Soldiers is lifted, and some Reformed Officers taken in, who have been promised, not a free Exercise of their Religion, but that no Officer or Soldier should be molested in Matters of Faith. It is also said, that the new Captains of this Regiment are picking up Recruits to complement their Companies among the Popish Cantons. The Reports we have had here of the Plague's being spread into the Gevaudan near Lyons, and as far as the Bishoprick of Wurzburg in Germany, are assured to have been grounded only upon some malignant Fevers which had reigned in those Places of late, and were since entirely ceased.

Vienna, June 28. On the 25th Instant Count Kevenhuller was sent to Prague with Letters from the Emperour to the Empress, who was expected to arrive there Yesterday from Carlsbad. Letters from Belgrade say, the Turks continue their military Preparations, and that they have lately received considerable Reinforcements from Asia; but that it was not yet discovered upon what Account those Preparations are intended: For which Reason a Stop is put to the Reduction of the Imperial Regiments.

Genoa, July 1. The three British Men of War have been cruising off this Port ever since last Week, in order to make Reprisals for Sig. Commo's Debt, but hitherto without Success. This Afternoon they have given Chace to a Ship bound higher; but being at a great Distance off this Port, the Event will not be known till Tomorrow.

Although the Number of the Inhabitants at Toulon is exceedingly diminished, there yet die 100 in a Day, or thereabouts. Two adjacent Villages are newly infected; the Distemper increases at the Saine, where 8 or 10 Persons die in a Day, and about 20 at Ollioules. Letters of the 13th of June from Marseilles say, that almost every Day one Person or other fell Sick there of the Plague, of whom most died. It raged at Arles; whence many of the Inhabitants who attempted to go into the Country, met with Opposition in passing a Bridge, from the People of Trivigliano at three several Times; there remained killed on the Spot on both Sides 46 Persons, but the Party got over.

Turin, July 5. Two Troops of Horse are appointed to be transported into Sardinia, to relieve the Dragoons de la Perouze who are to reinforce the Posts about Nizza, in order to the better securing this Country against the Plague. Some Days ago a Man was executed here for murdering his Wife in a most barbarous Manner: He was led from the Prison to the Place of Execution without the Gate de la Victoire, being stopped at every Corner of the Principal Streets and pinched with red hot Pinchers; after which he was hanged. All Preparations are carried on with great Assiduity for the Prince's Marriage, but the Bride remains still incognito.

Copenhagen, July 5. The Prince Royal set out hence at six a Clock this Morning, his Baggage being sent away two Days ago. The King's Ordinance is in the Press, for regulating the Degrees of Rank among the Ladies. The Particulars of the Cargo of the Ship which lately arrived here from the East Indies, is just published, and the Merchandise will be exposed to Sale on the Exchange at the End of this Month. That Ship, with another, are to be refitted, in order for a Voyage to Trangobar a few Months hence.

Hambourg, July 8. M. Botticher, the Russian Resident in this City, has received Letters from Petersbourg dated the 13th of June, mentioning the Express which was sent from Revel to Admiral Apraxin to desist from committing Hostilities against Sweden, by reason the Caar has consented to a Suspension of Arms; but those Letters say not how long the Suspension is to continue: It is certain, nevertheless, that the Muscovite Gallies that were in the Bothnick Gulf are actually returned to the Ports of Finland, and have disembarked the Troops which had been taken on board. The last Letters from Finland say, that the Muscovites have left Abo, and retired further up the Country; and with this melancholy Circumstance, that the same Day they left Abo, that Capital was burned to Ashes by a sudden Fire; and although the Muscovites give out that it came by Accident, and without their Knowledge, 'tis however suspected in Sweden to have been done on purpose, it being known that that City was to be restored by the Peace to that Crown. The Governor of Domits not appearing at the time he was to have taken upon him the Command of Swerin, his whole Family is sent to Prison by order of the Duke of Mecklenbourg.
